

LAUNCH OF AN ONLINE PLATFORM FOR TEACHERS AND LEARNERS OF JAPANESE

Professors Alessandro Benati and Sayoko Yamashita will be launching a new online platform for teachers of Japanese in the United Kingdom.

The online platform for learning and teaching Japanese grammar has been made possible by two research grants secured from The Great Britain SASAKAWA Foundation and Japanese MEXT Fund Support (Japanese Ministry of Education Scientific Research Fund Basic Research (Type C) #16K02821).

The website; teachingjapanesegrammar.com is currently under construction but will be launching in the beginning of October.

This is a free event and everybody is welcome! Please contact Ms. Nancy Wong to register, or for any queries about the event at: Nancy.Wong@greenwich.ac.uk

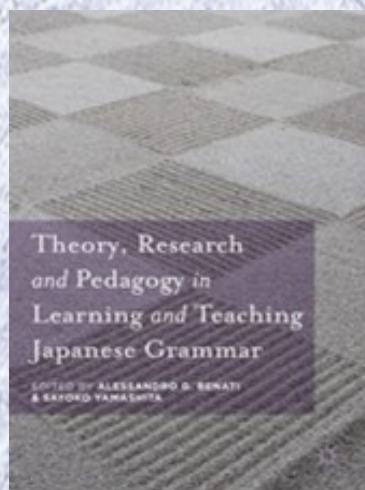

Date and Time: 17 October from 2-4 pm

Venue: Daiwa Anglo-Japanese Foundation, 13/14 Cornwall Terrace, London, NW1 4QP

<http://www.dajf.org.uk/contact-and-find-us>

The two authors have recently published a book on learning and teaching Japanese. Theory, Research and Pedagogy in Learning and Teaching Japanese Grammar, Palgrave.

<http://www.palgrave.com/de/book/9781137498915>

UNIVERSITY of GREENWICH

Centre for Applied Research and Outreach in Language Education

実践女子大学

実践女子大学短期大学部